Innovative Higher Education

Volume 24, Number 1, Fall 1999

Guest Editor

Pamela J. Bender

American Association for Higher Education

Preface 3

Ellen Wert

Special Issue on Post-tenure Review

Post-tenure Review: National Trends, Questions and Concerns 5

Christine M. Licata and Joseph C. Morreale

Overview and context of current issues and practices relating to post-tenure review

State-Level Post-tenure Review Policies 17

Margaret A. Miller

Account of the process of implementing state-level mandated post-tenure review in Virginia and discussion of policies in other states

Navigating the Long and Winding Path of Post-tenure Review: The Arizona Story 25

S. Vianne McLean and Thomas E. Callarman

Description of the process of implementing regentially mandated post-tenure review across four Arizona state universities

University of California Peer Review System and Post-tenure Evaluation 39

Ellen Switkes

Explanation of a long established post-tenure review system within the nine campuses of The University of California

Peer Review and Post-tenure Review 49

Charles Mignon and Deborah Langsam

Application of framework themes to the reality of post-tenure review and in support of the idea of teaching as community property

Post-tenure Review Through Post-tenure Development: What Linking Senior Faculty and Technology Taught Us 61

Mary Deane Sorcinelli

Description of framework and implementation of an effective faculty development program for senior faculty and its relationship to post-tenure review

Lessons Learned About Post-tenure Review from the AAHE Peer Review of Teaching Project 73

James W. Taylor

Personal explanation of the adaptation of the "reflective memo" as part of the post-tenure review process

Guest Reviewers, 1998–99 81

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 24, Number 2, Winter 1999

Editor's Page 85

Ronald D. Simpson

Ralph Tyler on Curriculum: A Voice from the Past with a Message for the Future

Portfolio People: Teaching and Learning Dossiers and Innovation in Higher Education 89

W. Alan Wright, Peter T. Knight, and Natalie Pomerleau

An examination of the potential of and problems with portfolios, giving attention to key issues in successfully introducing portfolios in higher education

Student Perceptions of Supplemental Web-Based Instruction 105

Alex J. Angulo and Michelle Bruce

Examination of the perceptions of college students using supplemental web-based instruction; results have implications for the design and evaluation of web-enhanced college courses

Tracking New Directions in the Evaluation of Postgraduate Supervision 127

Tania Aspland, Helen Edwards, Jane O'Leary, and Yoni Ryan

Evaluative strategies for the processes of postgraduate supervision were developed at an Australian university to facilitate ongoing feedback between postgraduate students and their supervisors

Indiana Jane and the Temples of Doom: Recommendations for Enhancing Women and Racial/Ethnic Faculty's Success in Academia 149

Chris D. Erickson and Ester R. Rodriguez

New/junior women and racial/ethnic faculty face unique challenges in academia. Recommendations for increasing success are offered

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 24, Number 3, Spring 2000

Editor's Page 171

Ronald D. Simpson

Hemispheric Learning: Implications for Higher Education

Planning Imperatives for the Next Century: A Guest Essay 175

Cameron Fincher

Presentation and explanation of ten imperatives for planning in light of what has occurred in American higher education over the past three decades

Focusing on Process to Improve Learning: A Case Study of Instructional Research and Development 183

Charles M. Spuches and James E. Coufal

With a focus on the instructional design and development process, description of project development to promote environmental ethics in practice

Finding a Better Person-Environment Fit in the Academic Deanship 203

Mimi Wolverton, Walter Gmelch, and Marvin L. Wolverton

An examination of the fit between academic deans and their work environments in the U.S. and Australia, in relationship to multiple role stress factors

Technology Infusion and Higher Education: Changing Teaching and Learning 227

John W. Miller, Leonard P. Martineau, and Robert C. Clark

A discussion of the concept of technology infusion with examination of barriers and identification of changes needed at both the system and individual levels

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 24, Number 4, Summer 2000

Editor's Page 245

Ronald D. Simpson and Kay Herr Gillespie

Looking Back and Looking Forward

Faculty Study Groups: Solving "Good Problems" Through Study, Reflection, and Collaboration 247

Terry M. Wildman, Margaret P. Hable, Marlene M. Preston, and Susan G. Magliaro

Faculty from a large research university engaging teaching with the perspective of reflective collaborators rather than individuals

Becoming Qualitative Researchers: A Collaborative Approach to Faculty Development 265

Ron W. Wilhelm, Madge T. Craig, Rebecca J. Glover, Diane D. Allen, and Jane B. Huffman

A collaborative, cross-discipline, research-based, staff development model for learning qualitative research methodology

Active Learning Techniques Versus Traditional Teaching Styles: Two Experiments from History and Political Science 279

J. Patrick McCarthy and Liam Anderson

A pair of studies empirically testing group role-play and other collaborative exercises against traditional lecture-style presentations and teacher-centered discussion sections

Reframing Doctoral Programs: A Program of Human Inquiry for Doctoral Students and Faculty Advisors 295

R. Neal Shambaugh

Proposal for a Program of Human Inquiry to support the human nature of scholarly inquiry by doctoral students and their advisors